NORTHERN PACIFIC AT THOUSAND MARK

AND WALL STREET IS PANICKY

ONLY ONE FIRM SO FAR GONE TO THE WALL.

Shorts Making Tremendous Efforts to Cover Themselves—No Relief for Panic in Sight.

By Wire to The Telegram.

New York, May 9.—Noon, Wall Street panicky. Missouri Pacific has dropped thirty six, St. Paul twenty-four and half, Atchison thirty-four, Union Pacific thirty six, New York Central thirteen, Copper twenty, Manhattan thirty-six, United States Steel eighteen, rest of list fifteen, Deleware and Hudson dropped thirty-five in one transaction. Northern Pacific deals went to two hundred twenty-five cash and finally five hundred thirty shares at seven hundred, the market showing the tremendous efforts of the shorts to cover themeselves. The panic continues unabated with no relief in sight, but no failures reported so far.

LATER—Chas. R. Sickles and Co. are the first brokers to announce a failure. Kuhn Loeb and Company have issued a statement saying they had agreed with J. P. Morgan & Co. not to enforce any deliveries of Northern Pacific today. Northern Pacific has reached the thousand mark.

First Parliament.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Melbourne, May 9.—The Duke of Cornwall opened today the first session of the Australian Parliament. King Edward cabled his son. "My thoughts are with you upon this occasion. I wish the commonwealth of Australia every happiness and prosperity."

Wages Up for Steel Workers.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Harrisburg, May 7.—Notices were posted today at the various departments of the Pennsylvania Steel Works at Steelton of the restoration of the 10 per cent reduction in wages made on Jan. 1, 1901. The restoration will take effect on June 1, and about 7,000 employees will be benefited.

Big Money for Seat on 'Change.

By Wire to The Telegram.

A seat on the New York Stock Exchange was sold yesterday for $70,000, or, with the initiation fee paid, $71,000. This is a new high record.

WANTED TO SHOW A GAME.

Then Snatched a Ten Dollar Bill and Decamped, but was Captured.

Officer Jeffreys of the police force, locked up a darkey this morning named Will Gibson charged with stealing ten dollars from Mr. Tom Oliver. Mr. Oliver claims that Gibson was in his place last night and wanted to show him a trick, a game with several cards which were perfectly blank with the exception of a border around the edges, similar to mourning cards. In order to work the game Gibson wanted some money in his possession changed, and when Oliver pulled out a handfull of money to get the change, Gibson snatched a ten dollar bill and ran. When arrested this morning he had on his person cards as described by Oliver.

Walking on a Wager.

A man calling himself Dakota Bob struck the town this morning, claiming to be walking from Mexico to New York on a wager. He wore his hair hanging down his shoulders, and had in his possession a book in which he kept a record of his journeys. While in the city he was quite free with his tongue, which unless curbed, may lead him into trouble.

STOCK MARKET

The Harriman and Morgan-Hill Interests Said to be at War Over Union Pacific, With the Former in Control of the Situation.

New York, May 8.—The stock market was utterly demoralized this morning by the development in Northern Pacific. What were only sinister rumors yesterday had taken form in positive assertions that the Harriman interests, in retaliation for the recent attempt to secure control of Union Pacific, had turned upon the Morgan-Hill interests and had wrested from them the control of the Northern Pacific. The competitive buying caused a virtual corner in the stock, to the discomfiture and panic of a very large short interest. The collateral consequences of the opinion of the war thus disclosed between the most powerful financial interests in the country caused acute alarm among the large interest long of the market on the supposition that the great financial interests of the country were working in accord to secure a harmonious community of interests throughout the entire world. The Harriman interests, supposedly backed by the Goulds and Standard Oil interests, in bitter warfare with the Vanderbilt-Morgan-and-Hill interests offered alarming suggestions to the heated imagination of speculators. While shorts were bidding any prices for Northern Pacific, therefore, speculators were unloading other stocks all through the list. By some means Northern Pacific had been forced 10¾ points under last night's close in the London market this morning. The opening sale here was of 2,000 shares at 155, a rise of 22½ over the morning's London price. On subsequent purchases of blocks not exceeding 2,000 shares, the price jumped five points at a time to 180 and then fell back to 155. One interval of 8 points on sale of 500 shares was recorded.

$150,000 FIRE IN AUGUSTA

The Cotton Warehouse District the Scene of an Ugly Conflagration.

Augusta, Ga., May 8.—What looked to be a fire that would stop only when it had wiped out the cotton storage district of Augusta, broke out in one of the storage compartments of the Union Compress Company's building at one o'clock today. When the blaze was discovered it had gained sufficient head way to cover the roof of the building before the alarm could be responded to. An alley way about six feet wide separates the compress and Phinizy & Co's warehouse. The high breeze that was blowing in very short time swept the flames over the heads of the firemen to this building, in which was stored 1,200 bales of cotton. From here it was blown to Whitney & Company's warehouse and seemed beyond the control of the department. In the Whitney warehouse there were 2,500 bales stored, and soon the whole was a roaring mass of flames.

The walls of this structure were the only ones to give away. Had it not been for this the fire department could not have stopped it where it did, though they are being highly commended on all sides, the mayor personally thanking the chief of the fire department. The losses are as follows on the cotton: Whitney & Co., $105,000; Phinizy & Co. $50,400; Compress Company, $4,000. From this it is possible that $5,000 can be saved by salvage. The loss on the buildings is estimated at $3,500. The cotton was fully insured.

TWO WOMEN BURNED TO DEATH IN NEW YORK.

New York, May 8.—Two women were burned to death and a number of persons injured in a fire which started in the five-story apartment house at Lexington avenue and Sixtieth street early today. The dead are: Jinnie McSorley, a widow, 40 years old and Miss Brown, 18 years old, who recently came from Washington. Their bodies were found burned almost beyond recognition in the top floor of the house. Mr. Elizabeth M. Wolters sustained internal injuries, which probably will result fatall. The loss by fire was $20,000.

HE FOUGHT FOR HIS PISTOL.

EASTMAN DOES NOT REMEMBER WHO GOT IT.

The Defendent Tells the Jury of His Relations With His Brother-in-law and the Incidents of the Shooting.

Cambridge, Mass., May 7.—The climax in the Eastman murder case was reached today when the defendant himself took the stand to tell his own story. He went into no elaborate details, but answered only the questions put to him by his lawyer. For two hours he was on the stand, giving his testimony as to his relations with Grogan and the incidents of the day of the shooting. He declared that the shooting was an accident, and that up to last October he had always believed that it was the old rim-fire pistol that discharged the bullet that killed his brother-in-law.

The struggle which followed, he said, was for the possession of the center-fire pistol which Grogan had in his hand. Eastman said that he went to Grogan first to assist him and then, because of the expression on his face, to get the weapon away from him. He said that there was so much noise and confusion in the struggle that he could not recall the times Grogan's pistol went off. But that it did go off he was almost certain. He did not know how he received his own wound, and said he did everything possible after the affair to assist Grogan to the house and was prostrated with grief when he found that he was dying.

The cross-examination was not finished when the court adjourned for the day.

Mrs. Eastman, wife of the defendant, was on the stand most of the forenoon. She was visibly affected by the minute examination as to the incidents immediately preceeding the tragedy and regarding certain statements made by her hushband she wept.

Mrs. Eastman said she did not remember any such incident as that related by Mrs. Grogan, Sr., who testified that Eastman had said Grogan's days were numbered. Witness never said that Eastman had been drinking nor had she ever heard Mrs. Grogan, Jr., say he had been drinking.

Mrs. Eastman also testified that in June the lock on the tomb containing Grogan's body had been tampered with, but no one had asked permission to open the tomb.

Attorney General Knowlton declined to cross-examine Mrs. Eastman.

The defendant, Charles R. Eatsman, then took the stand to testify in his own behalf. He said that his relations with Grogan always were pleasant, and that from the fall of 1899 they were on terms of greatest friendship. He denied that any quarrel took place in November, 1899; that any jealousy existed because Grogan had undertaken the business left by their father-in-law, or that he ever had said in the presence of Grogan's mother that Grogan's days were short. Witness related the incidents of target practice on the morning of July 4, of dining and going to the swimming races in company with Grogan.

Eastman said he found the races slow and started back home with his wife. He denied that he urged Grogan to return with them, but said Grogan overtook him on the way home. Eastman could not tell whether it was Grogan or himself who suggested a resumption of target shooting.

In the main, Eastman's story of the shooting of Grogan is as was repeated by the witnesses who had heard Eastman's statement immediately after the event. He said that his recollection of what happened after he and Grogan clinched was very indistinct. 'There was," he said, "a struggle for the possession of the gun. There was confusion, exclamations, noise, and cries, and the next I remember was the deep indrawing of breath, when he (Grogan) burst out with something like 'Damn it, I am shot.' Finally I got possession of the revolver after a long struggle and Grogan was brought to his knees. I don't know exactly what happened after that, because of the fright and horror and of the agonized cries. I cried out to him to let go, while on his part he said in the most agonizing tones, 'Oh! Oh! Oh!' I next remember that we were running and that we came together again for another struggle. Some weapon I don't know what, lay on the ground and I tried to kick it out of the way."

ODELL HARDWARE CO.

Scrofula

Scrofula is an unwelcome legacy, but one which the children of blood poisoned parentage must accept, with all its humiliating consequences. It is an inheritance that makes one poorer; that brings wretchedness and disease instead of health and riches, for the child whose ancestral blood is tainted with Scrofula or the loathsome virus of Contagious Blood Poison is unfitted for the arduous duties of life so long as any of the transmitted poison remains in its veins. Scrofula manifests itself in various forms; swollen glands about the neck and throat, catarrh of the head, weak eyes, hip bone disease, white swelling and offensive sores and abscesses are familiar symptoms, attended usually with loss of strength, poor digestion and pale or bloodless complexion. The skin is sometimes most dreadfully affected, eruptions breaking out on all parts of the body. Scrofula destroys bone, tissue and flesh; no part of the human system escapes its withering, benumbing touch. Parents whose blood is poisoned by their own misdeeds, or who themselves may be suffering for the sins of some remote ancestor, must restore their own blood to its normal purity and strength, or they cannot expect healthy, robust children. S. S. S. cures Scrofula, like other diseases of a deep-seated, constitutional character, by restoring life and purity to the profoundly poisoned blood, and the rich, strong blood that is carried to the swollen and diseased glands absorbs and destroys the tuberculous deposits, and the painful, disfiguring sores and other evidences of Scrofula disappear.

When nineteen years old, and about one year after the birth of my first child, the glands on the left side of my neck began to swell. Four of the places were lanced and became open running sores; risings came under my left arm, and the discharge was simply awful. The doctors said I had the worst case of Scrofula they had ever seen. I took iodide of potassium, but this nor the other drugs given for this disease brought relief. When the physicians advised me to have the glands removed, I decided to try S. S. S. A few bottles cured me completely; no signs of the terrible disease are left.

MRS. RICHARD WASSON,
Golden Corners, Ohio.

S. S. S. should be begun immediately upon the appearance of the first symptoms, or where there is a known predisposition to Scrofula. Our medical department will be found of great help to those who are struggling with this wasting disease of heredity or any other blood trouble, and we invite you to write us. Should you or any member of your family need advice, our physicians will cheerfully give the information you desire, for which we make no charge. Book on Blood and Skin Diseases free.

FOR CHILDREN

Nothing, that comes in a bottle, is more important for children than Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil. And "important" means that it keeps them in even health, on the highest plane of physical life.

"Do they live on it then?"

No; they don't touch it, except when they need it.

"When do they need it?"

Whenever they show, in whatever way, the least disturbance of even balance of health. It is not for acute diseases, with some exceptions; it is for a slight falling off from first-rate condition.

It is to be used as a food whenever their usual food does not quite answer the purpose of food.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 12.

Though only 19 years old, I suffered from pains and female troubles two years. Last spring I got so bad I had to quit work. I had to support myself, and could not afford a high-priced doctor. I got one bottle of Wine of Cardui and that made me feel better. Have now used several bottles and am well. My mother used the Wine for Change of Life and was greatly relieved.

MISS MARGARET WALSH.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

Many girls and women find it necessary to earn their own living in various kinds of employment. Their work is often so hard and confining that the health breaks down. Their delicate constitutions are unfitted for tiresome tasks. Weakness nearly always makes its appearance in the peculiarly delicate womanly organs. Constant standing on the feet, and coming and going at the beck of a superintendent or foreman, induces falling of the womb, leucorrhœa, headache and backache. The pay of women workers is often so notoriously small that when sickness comes they have no money to engage skillful physicians. To them Wine of Cardui is truly a blessing. It cures them of their ills at a small cost, and they can act as their own physicians. No doctor can do as much for "female troubles" as Wine of Cardui.

THURSDAY, MAY 9.

LOST ONE AND GAINED ONE.

The Newton correspondent of the Charlotte Observer gives this very interesing story:

If a dispatch from Adel, Ga., which appeared in some of thenewspapers of yesterday and the day before is correct, that town and Newton have made a swep in the matter of the color of the individual of each place, a Georgia white man becoming a citizen of color while a well known negro of Newton, Dolph Setzer by name who some years ago was a coal-black man, is now as white as any meber of the Caucasian race. The Georgia case is reported in the following dispatch fro Adel:

"Physicians of this city and county have organized a medical association and at its first meeting, held today, a case which may attract the attention of the medical profession of the country came before it.

"In the lower corner of Berrin county there resides a young white man, aged about 22 years, who for the past five years has been gradually growing black. In his boyhood days he was of fair skin; had blue eyes and light hair. Five years ago his skin took on a sallow appearance, but no attention was paid to it. Gradually the lad grew darker and darker until now his skin shows a dark, livid color, while his hair grows blacker, it seems, every day. Only the eyes remain to remind one of his former days, so complete has the change been. The medical men of this section are puzzled over the case."

Some 15 or more years ago the Newton colored man mentioned began to notice small white spots on his body, in marked contrast to the general coal-black appearance of his body. These gradually became larger and more numerous, but without any inconvenience or pain, until the spots appeared on his face and hands. In a few years he was a wonder to behold, his face presenting the appearance of having been whitewashed in spots. The white splotches gradually enlarged, however, until for the past few years Dolph has been a "white" man from head to foot, the only intimation that he was once a coal-black citizen, being a few black spots about the size of a ten cent piece in the top of his head and smaller ones on the back of his neck.

Dolph is an industrious citizen, and can be seen at work here almost any day, being a plasterer by trade, and while he has long since ceased to attract the attention of Newton people, a few years a go whit he was about 'half and half," he never failed to excite the interest of strangers. Never, during the whole period has Dolph suffered any ill effects from his exception to the rule that the Ethiopian cannot change his skin, despite the general belief that as soon as he became entirely colorless he would die. He is about 55 years old.

All of which remins us of the words of an esteemed and pious citizen of one of our North Carolina backwoods districts who made a talk at church in the absence of the preacher. After concluding his exhortation he called on all of the congregation who wanted to go to heaven to stand up. Only his own wife of all the crowd stood up. "Well, well," remarked the brother, "Sallie is the only one who wants to git to Heaven! Then all of the you who want to go to hell stand up. "At this, the exhortor's nephew, who was sitting in the rear and had not kept tract of what was going on, hearing the call to stand up, quickly arose. He was the only one: and the exhorter, seeing this evident division in his family with an air of resignation remarked, "Lost one and gained one, brethren less go home."

SCHWAB TALKS TO BOYS.

President of the Billion Dollar Steel Corporation Says He Knows of No College-Bred Captain of Industry.

New York, May 8.—Chas. M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel Coroporation, talked for 20 minutes tonight to 300 poor boys of the East Side stundents in St. George's Evening Trades School. The occasion was the commencement exercises of theschool. Mr. Schwab said among other things:

"From my long experience I am led to believe that many boys make the mistake of depending upon influence to obtain for them positions of profit. This is a serious draw back to any boy, for even if he has the talent necessary advancement over other boys,his competitors, will say that his success or partial success was due, not to merit, but to influence. Go yourself to seek work in life and depend upon your own exertions and merit. Merit must count and must win. The boy who depends upon influence is handicapped sadly from the start.

"No matter what business you enter, the essential feature to success is that you perform your tasks better than anybody else. This alone will command attention. Everybody is expected to do his duty, but the boy or man who does a little more is certain of promotion.

'Success is not money making alone, and I want to state that of the truly great men I know in industrial and manufacturing lines none is a college-bred man, but they are men who receieved an industrial of mechanical education and who worked up by perseverance and application. Let me advise you all make an early start in life, The boy with the manual training and the common school education who can start in life at 16 or 17 can leave the the boy who goes to college till he is 20 or more so far behind in the race that he can never catch up. This, however, does not apply to professional life. The other day I was at a gathering of 40 successful business men—men in industrial and manufacturing business—and the question arose as to how many were college-bred men. Of the 40 only two had been graduated from colleges and the rest of the party, 38 in number, had received only common school educations; had started in life as poor boys. So I say, as parting advice,start early."

The Winnie Davis Memorial

The Georgia Daughters of the Confederacy have undertaken to erect a memorial to the lamented Winnie Davis, in whose honor the association was named.

It has been decided that his memorial shall be in the form of a woman's dormitory anex to the State Normal School at Athens.

Such an addition is badly needed there and would be of great benfit to the women students, who are now uncomportably crowded at that institution.

Mrs. Hallie Rousaville Alexander, president of the Georgia Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, has sent a "message" to the teachers and students of Georgia in which she urges "that every school in Georgia devote a part of Friday, May 10, 1901, to the rendition of a special program of Confederate interest and to a collection for the Winnie Davis memorial." Another Elopement on Foot Bristol, Va., May 6.—Mr. William Skeens and his cousin, Miss Hattie A. Skeens, a young rural couple, eloped from Russel county and were married at Parson Burrough's mecca on Saturday evening. This devoted pair came afoot over the mountains a distance of about 30 miles, in order to catch a train for Bristol at Mendota. The trip across the mountains was made by moonlight. The journey was a very fatiguing one to the pretty rural girl, whose pride caused her to wear a new pair of shoes. When she reached the mecca her feet were sore and blistered and she complained of how hard, and yet how joyous, were the ways of Cupid. The couple journeyed back over the mountain on Sunday, the bride having declined the offer of an old easy pair of shoes before leaving Bristol.

Speech by Our Commander in China Arouses Much Comment,

Paris,May 7.—A dispatch from Pekin saysthat a few evenings ago Gen. Gaselee, the British commander, gave a smoking concert in the temple of Heaven in honor of Gen. Chaffee, the commander of the American troops, and the American officers. Gen. Chaffee made a political speech, which has caused much comment and adverse criticism outside the British camp, The following version of the speech, which is accepted on all sides as correct, was published in the original organ of the British legation on Saturday:

"Let Kings, Ministers and politicians say what they may, but I can tell you this, that never will you see Americans and British facing each other in the field. Our national policy may be to steer clear of international complications, but should circumstances arise in which we must make a choice our inclinations will be with the British."

Workshop Etiquette.

Jeweler's Review.

A strike for a novel cause is said to have been made in a Connecticut establishment. It seem that the foreman insisted upon being addressed as "Mister," and the men—or at least some of them—preferred to call him by his Christian name without any prefix. He discharged one of them for doing this and all of the men went out. This raises the question whether men are employed to be polite to the foreman of to accomplish the most for the business. It is a question whether the foreman who is addressed as "Mister" can get any more work out of men than he who is known to them as "Jack." While in military and naval circles men are requifed to observe forms in addressing the bosses, the impression is that theforeman who cannot impress his men with an appreciation of his dignity in any other manner that by issuing a court circular had better drop the mantle and devote his attention exclusively to getting good work. A dignity which will not take care of itself is not of much accofnt anyway.

THREE COMMUNICATIONS ON IT

THE DAUGHTERS THINK THERE IS A TIME FOR ALL THINGS.

Mr. R. S. Petty Presents His Side of the Affair—"T" Says if the Matter Had Been Brought up Earlier He Would Have Aided in Effecting a Postponement of the Races, but Thinks it Too Late Now.

To the Editor of The Telegram:

The following is a copy of the communication sent to the Daughters of the Confederacy in answer to their card appearing in The Telegram yesterday:

To the President of the Daughters of the Confederacy:

We note with regret the card in The Telegram of yesterday, and in regard to the race meeting to be held in Greensboro on May 10th.

We wish first of all to assure the Daughters of the Confederacy of our hearty sympathy with their organization and its purposes.

We love the Confederacy, we love our honored dead and we revere their memory as tenderly as can possibly any member of your association, and it gives us great pleasure to aid in commemorate the memory of our Confederate dead by any aid we can render you and your society.

The races to be held on the same day in our minds, had no connection with the Memorial Day exercises but were placed on the 10th because that was the only available date for the horsemen.

Neither the races nor the ball game are to begin until 2 p. m. when the Memorial exercises are completed and when business in the city has been resumed.

We fail to see that in any way we are casting discredit upon the Daughters of the Confederacy, or Confederate Veterans or the City of Greensboro, in so doing.

I wish also to say that these races are not under the management of the Central Carolian Fair Association, but of the horse owners to whom the track was turned over for their pleasure, without any remuneration to the Association.

I am answering your card not as Secretary of the Fair Association, but as one of the horsemen.

Yours very respectfully,
ROBT. S. PETTY.

To the Editor of The Telegram:

At a meeting of the Guilford Chapter of the Daughters of Confederacy held at the home of the president this morning at ten o'clock the following resolutions were drawn up:

We the Guilford Chapter U. D. C's. thank Mr. R. L. Petty for his communication received this morning and while we cannot but deplore that Southern men should engage in horse-racing on Memorial Day, we are convinced that it was want of thought, rather than want of heart, on the part of these gentlemen. The very fact of their sending the communication proves that.

As a chapter we ardently and earnestly urge these gentlemen, though managers of the base ball teams, also ball managers, to select some other day for these various amusements. As ex-Confederate soldiers, their representatives and descendants, let us keep sacred the one day out of three hundred and sixty-five that is set apart to decorate the graves of our beloved dead, and as such should touch a responsive chord in the heart of every Southern man and woman.

We are not criticising the demerits or merits of these various amusements, but according to the eternal fitness of things there is a time for all things, and memorial services, horse-racing base ball and dancing are hardly compatible. We are proud to know that our own Central Carolina Fair Association have nothing to do with the races.

MRS. AUBREY BROOKS,
MRS. R. B. DALTON,
MRS. ROBERT KING,
MRS. W. E. ALLEN,
MRS. WILLIAM HARVEY,
Committee.

To the Editor of The Telegram:

All honor to the Daughters of the Confederacy! Theirs is a noble cause, conscience is hatched and one for which I have more kind feeling toward than any organization, the Chruch excepted. If they had wanted the races postponed so as not to come on Memorial Day, and had even intimated it, I as one interested in both would have used my influence against the races. However at this late hour when all arrangements have been completed and horses brought here from a distance, to hold now a meeting and pass resolutions is a little short sighted it seems to me. A short time since I offered $5 for a flag of the Stars and Bars, which offer is still open. I don't see enough of the flags to satisfy me. I adore the memory of the Confederate dead, and one Sunday in Dr. Lyman Abbott's church while he was abusing and vilifying the Southern soldier, it made me have the utmost contmpt for him, and I have never changed my mind

I don't believe there is any disrespect in the races. I know none was intended. Easter should above all days be respected and yet foot ball, racing and pic-nics are always indulged in and no disrespect thought of or suggested. The races will not conflict with any of the Memorial services. Wishing the Daughters continued and renewed interest in their noble work, I am still an admirer of the Stars and Bars.

Married at West Market.

At the prayer meeting service held last night in the West Market Street church, three persons, two ladies and a gentleman, aroused much curiosity on the part of those present by the evident bride and groom appearance of the gentleman and one of the ladies. Immediately after the conclusion of the services the trio, accompanied by several friends and the pastor of the church, Rev. S. B. Turrentine, entered the pastor's study and two of the trio were made man and wife. The other member of the party was the mother of the bride.

The contracting parties were Mr. John A. Poythress and Miss Effie L. Eason, both of this city. They moved recently to this city from Fayetteville. Mr. Poythres is a machinist.

TEACHING OF THE BIBLE

Prof. Claxton Delivers an Able Lecture at West Market.

Prof. P. P. Claxton, of the State Normal College, delivered an address at the prayer meeting service at West Market Street church last night. His subject was the need and importance of the Sunday school, and his talk was not only entertaining and instructive to those who heard it, but was full of helpful thought. He spoke of the fact that in Germany the children of the day schools study, five days out of the six they attend school, for one hour each morning, the Bible. This is just as much a part of their study as any of the text books in use in that country. About the same thing is done in England.

The speaker contrasted these conditions with those existing in America where the Bible is simply read. He said he did not exaggerate when he said that he once attended a school room where a Psalm was read by the children, and that five minutes after they had finished the reading he asked them what they read about, and not one of the students could tell him.

In the closing part of his talk, Prof. Claxton spoke of the work of the Sunday school, it importance and the results which could be obtained from carefully training the children in their youth.

Prof. Claxton is one of the most progressive educators in the South and his talk last night was of a high order.

PROF. BROADHURST

Has Accepted the Superintendency of the Graded Schools of Thomasville, Ga.

Prof. E. D. Broadhurst, principal of the Lindsay Street Graded school, has accepted the superintendency of the Graded Schools of Thomasville, Georgia, and will begin his duties there atthe openeing of the fall term. Prof. Broadhurst has spent two years in the Greensboro schools, and during that time has made many friends, not only among the students, but among the people of the city, and his departure will be a matter of general regret.

Thomasville, the city where he will make his future home, is a winter resort, and many of the residents of the North spend their winters there. Among those who own residences in that city is Mark Hanna. It was there the nomination of McKinley for the Presidency of the United States was first mentioned, and there the first plans were laid that resulted in his securing the nomination, and eventually the election.

To Attend a Funeral.

Dr. S. B. Turrentine went to Burlington this morning to attend the funeral of Mrs. Laura Hambright, of Jacksonville, Fla., which occured from the Christian church in Burlington at ten o'clock this morning.

Mrs. Hambright was a daughter of Mr. William Turrentine, of Burlington, a cousin of Dr. Turrentine. She was a victim of consumption, and though living in Jacksonville at the time of the fire, her home was in a portion of the city not affected by the fire. She leaves a husband and one child, a girl.

To Return To-night.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Ireland and the children are expected to return from Florida tonight. Mrs. Ireland and the children spent the winter in Orlando, Fla., and Mr. Ireland has been there since the adjournment of the Missionary Conference, recently held in New Orleans. Prof. W. F. Alderman, who has been spending the winter there, will also return.

HE SAW THE FIRE START

Mr. Sydney Reinach Describes Some Scenes in Jacksonville.

Baltimore Sun.

Mr. Sydney Reinach, 916 North Arlington avenue, who is a traveling salesman for Strauss Bros., 43 Hopkins Place, arrived home early Sunday morning from Jacksonville, Fla., where he spent the day of the terrible fire. In speaking of his experience last night Mr. Reinach said to a reporter of The Sun:

"I reached Jacksonville Thursday evening and stopped at the Duvall Hotel. When the fire broke out, about 1 o'clock Friday afternoon, I left the hotel to go to see it. At first the people in the city did not seem at all alarmed, but they did not take into consideration that the wind was blowing at the rate of 50 miles an hour.

"When they finally realized that the city was doomed they became frantic Women rushed up and down stairs crying for people to help them save their valuables. Rich men stood in their shirt sleeves and implored passersby to aid them to remove a valuable piano, a case filled with rare books or a cabinet containing costly curious. But after they got these things out into the streets the flames beat down upon them with a furry that compelled the people to flee for their lives.

'Two fire engines were sent from St. Augustine. The trains that brought them ran at the rate of a mile and a quarter a minute. But when the engines arrived it was found that no hose was sent with them. There was plenty of hose in Jacksonville, but there was a lack of nozzles, which crippled the work of extinguishing the flames.

It was remarkable to see the persons in charge of some of the engines and directing the work of those who attempted to check the flames. One man whom I noticed operating an engine had on a golf or bicycle suit and bright colored stockings. He appeared to be a sport. Some persons were afraid that he would cause the engine to blow up.

"I lost my trunks, but managed to save a satchel, and left the city on a train at nine o'clock. As the train receded I could see hundreds of building still burning and smoking and heard may explosions in stores with combustibles."

Would Not Wear a Fine Gown.

Paris Dispatch to the London Telegraph.

Legal proceedings have been taken by a well known dressmaking establishment here to recover damages from a customer on the ground that the latter has refused to wear a magnificent evening gown presented free of charge by the firm. Probably on these terms many ladies would be delighted to accept a frock from a famous couturier. Not so the defendants in this case. It must be explained that the customer who spurns the handsome gift is an actress who plays the chief character in a new piece lately produced. All her gowns for the part have been supplied by the firm of couturiers in question free of charge, on the understanding that the name of the makers shall be mentioned either on the bills or elsewhere. In this respect the contract has been scrupulously carried out, the actress declines now to fulfill her share of the agreement. She duly worethe gowns supplied atthe dress rehearsal, and expressed satisfaction with all save one—the evening frock. This she strongly objected to, and she candidly told the dressmakers that at the first-night performance no power on earth would make her wear it. Thus warned, the couturiers secured two witnesses, for whom they obtained seats in the stalls for the following evening and who duly notedthat in the ball scene of the play the heroine was attired in a frock made by a rival firm. Affidavits were taken accordingly, and, armed with this evidence, the dressmakers have commenced proceedings. When the case comes on there will be a rush for seats in court among actresses, dressmakers and theatre managers, who are all interested in the legal point involved.

If ignorance is bliss, then the fools in this world have the best of it.

NAME FOR KODOL.

The only instance on record when a postoffice has been named after a patent medicine, was last year, when in Wetzel county, W. Va., a new postoffice was established and named Kodol, after the famous Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, manufactured by E. C. DeWitt & Co., of Chicago. It had given such satisfactory results that the name was unanimously selected by the people for the new office and adopted by the department at Washington, D. C.

HERE TO STAY.

Dr. W. G. Browne, the well known practical and scientific optician, who on professional visits here during the past 16 years, has given entire satisfaction to his numerous patrons, has fitted up an optical parlor in the Wright building opposite the court house, where he will be found during business hours, from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. and at any time at Hotel Clegg to attend special calls.

Eyes carefully examined and fitted with up-to-date spectacles and eye glasses. All work guaranteed.

Rock-a-Bye Baby

These are sweet words, but how much pain and suffering they used to mean. It's different now. Since Mother's Friend has become known expectant mothers have been spared much of the anguish of childbirth. Mother's Friend is a liniment to be applied externally. It is rubbed thoroughly into the muscles of the abdomen. It gives elasticity and strength, and when the final great strain comes they respond quickly and easily without pain. Mother's Friend is never taken internally. Internal remedies at this time do more harm than good. If a woman is supplied with this splendid liniment she need never fear rising or swelling breasts, morning sickness, or any of the discomforts which usually accompany pregnancy.

The proprietor of a large hotel in Tampa, Fla., writes: "My wife had an awful time with her first child. During her second pregnancy, Mother's Friend was used and the baby was born easily before the doctor arrived. It's certainly great."

If people only knew what we know about Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, it would be used in nearly every household, as there are few people who do not suffer from a feeling of fullness after eating, belching, flatulence, sour stomach or waterbrash, caused by indigestion or dyspepsia. A preparation such as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which, with no aid from the stomach, will digest your food, certainly can't help but do you good.

HOW TO VALUE A MINE

Expert's Method of Estimating the Worth of "Ore in Sight."

Always an Element of Uncertainty Even Under the Most Advantageous Investigations of Deposits.

With the news that John Hays Hammond's proposal to take charge of the Independence gold mine had been accepted by the London owners came the report that the mine had been "worked out." This statement had been made many times before, and much doubt existed in the minds of interested parties when Mr. Hammond's latest report was received, says the New York Tribune. This document showed that the property which for a long time yielded a 40 per cent. dividend on a large investment, was still rich in ore, and capable of producing large profits. Mr. Hammond said that the "ore in sight" warranted him in guaranteeing a dividend of ten per cent., or $488,000, and that would leave about $500,000 out of the year's deposits to be used toward the further development of the property and locating new ore beds.

The phrase "ore in sight" is one that is well understood by people who are interested in the mining business, but is misunderstood by the average layman. The ore is not "in sight" on the surface, but its existence is established by a series of operations which are in many instances exceedingly difficult, expensive and laborious.

Speaking on this subject, Dr. A. R. Ledoux said: "There is no way to determine the existence of gold ore, its quantity, quality, or anything about it unless one gets on three sides of the deposit, and even then there is an element of uncertainty about it. Ore in sight is what has been found after 'blocking' out a certain section of ground. The 'blocking' is accomplished in various ways in keeping with the nature of the ground. Thus, by sinking a shaft of 20 feet in width 100 feet into the earth and then running a level from this, say 200 feet, to another shaft the same depth and width as the first, and then taking samples of the ore or rock from all parts of this block one would have a good idea of the yielding qualities of that particular block. This block would be 400,000 cubic feet, or about 20,000 tons, and the assays from the four sides, the two shafts, the tunnel and the surface would be the 'gold in sight.' The center of the block, which cannot be reached until actual operations are begun, might yield much more than the assays indicated, and, on the other hand, it might be found worthless or barren rock. In cases where the block of 100x200x20 feet would be deemed insufficient for determining the value of the mine, another block of similar size may be laid out below or beyond the first, and by this series of blocking the value of the mine as a gold producer is estimated. It is a well-known fact that gold is often deposited in 'shoots' that run in oblique and tortuous directions from the surface, and one must be posted on the geology of the country to arrive at a correct estimate of the value of the land that has been blocked out. A shaft, for instance, may run for 100 feet through rich ore and another parallel shaft 200 feet away may not strike any ore until a depth of 100 feet or more has been reached. The next shaft 200 feet further away may have to be sunk still further before the valuable rock is reached, and this would indicate that the shoot runs diagonally from the surface. This is only one of the many phenomena in the matter of gold veins that present themselves to the miner, and no set rule can be followed in order to locate the valuable ore or to determine its extent. But the term 'gold in sight' or 'ore in sight' is usually applied to the block or to the series of blocks which have been examined and assayed on three sides."

QUESTION OF ETIQUETTE.

As to Whether the Hat Should Be Removed in a Public Elevator.

In the elevators in one of the large office buildings of this city, says the Washington Star, appears a neatly painted sign which reads as follows:

"This is a public elevator. Gentlemen are not required to remove their hats."

"That's common sense, if it is abrupt," said a well-known bonvivant and globe trotter, screwing his monocle more tightly in his eye as he reread the words.

"It is a mistaken chivalry and false sense of politeness which will cause a man to uncover in the presence of a lady in a public place such as an elevator in a public or business building, a street car, railroad car, ferry boat, railroad station, omnibus or other public vehicle or place, as it is an evidence of lack of metropolitan training and cosmopolitan knowledge. And a woman who would expect it is the kind of lady whose punctiliousness is about on a par with her breeding."

"To most men an elevator is an elevator, whether it is in a hotel or a courthouse. In a hotel it is the acknowledged custom in this country and abroad to remove the hat in the presence of ladies, so some of my over polite brothers think they must uncover in public. A hotel is in effect a dwelling house for a number of people, and rules which prevail in dwelling houses and drawing-rooms are not to be observed in the street, public places or in business.

"None of the deference due to the gentler sex is lost by the observance of rules to fit the occasion. Over politeness and undue servility are as ill-bred as an utter absence of courtesy."

SCHOOL FOR GOSPEL SINGERS

Ira D. Sankey En Route to New York to Establish a New Institution.

Ire D. Sankey, famed co-laborer of Dwight L. Moody, hopes to parallel in New York the work which the late evangelist initiated at Northfield. During their long association both believed in the effectiveness of combined exhortation and Gospel song. Northfield now has an institute which prepares men for evangelistic work. Mr. Sankey now proposes to establish in New York a school for Gospel singers, and cooperation between the two institutions is likely.

Before sailing for the United States from London the other day, after the completion of a three weeks' lecturing tour in England and Ireland, Mr. Sankey said he intended to establish his school early next year. In explaining his plans he continued:

"Many of our friends have suggested the advisability of perpetuating the musical system which has always proved such a popular side to Mr. Moody's evangelical work. I have undertaken the task by mapping out a regular course of instruction built upon the lines of my long and interesting experience."

Clever Swindlers Play a Neat Trick and Are Enriched $50,000 Thereby.

According to a story just received from Italy, a couple of clever rascals, said to be Americans, played a confidence game lately on an Italian priest by which they profited to the extent of $50,000. They have not been caught. Rev. Father M. Grosso, a member of the Society of Jesus, who is superior of the Jesuit institute at Turin, was the victim. Two handsomely dressed men, apparently Americans or Englishmen, called upon him about a fortnight ago and told him that they were the trustees of a rich orphaned boy, whose father had been killed in the war in the Transvaal. They told the priest that they wished to place the boy under his care and have him educated in the institute. At the same time, they said that they were custodians of £40,000, which belonged to their ward, and this money they desired to leave in the priest's charge.

Father Grosse consented to take the boy under his care and also agreed to accept custody of the funds, as suggested. The two strangers displayed several bundles of bank notes, apparently genuine, which they placed in compartments in the safe which Father Grosso accommodatingly opened for them. The pair then left the house, stating that they were going to Milan, where they had left their young charge, and would return with him.

Several days passed, but neither of the men returned. Father Grosso then, having become suspicious, went to his safe. He found that notes aggregating £10,000, all the funds of the institute, were gone, and that the bundles of so-called bank notes left by the two strangers contained nothing but waste paper.

The men, under the eyes of the priest, had extracted the institution's money in the safe while placing their own counterfeits in the compartments.

No Policies on Princes.

A flutter has been created throughout Europe by the refusal of the continental insurance companies to take the chances of anarchist activity. At all events one company at Trieste has refused to grant a policy to King Alexander of Servia, having had to pay 3,000,000 francs for King Humbert's life. King Alexander reigns over a somewhat turbulent population, and there is always "trouble in the Balkans." Other monarchs will be affected as well as Alexander. Many of them have insured their lives for large amounts, but the companies are said to be anxious to relieve themselves of the risks, despite the large premiums they pay. It is said that other insurance companies will follow the lead of the Austrian concern and refuse to jeopardize their stability by taking any further risks upon the lives of potentates.—Chicago Chronicle.
